RyuJin ($RYU): An Experiment in Decentralization

Introduction

Hello, I am Ryoshi. My identity is not significant, and in a few moments, you will understand why. I have been an independent trader of cryptocurrency for several years and have always been fascinated by the genesis of decentralized communities.

Background and Vision

The question that intrigues me is whether these communities are truly self-sustaining and independent or guided by invisible hands. Can they really grow from a seed to something perpetual and 100% community owned like BTC or DOGE, with no central figure or organization maintaining them?

Decentralization, in essence, is about aligning interests and distributing power among token holders. If a mystery admin holds 30% of all tokens in a so-called “locked wallet,” they still have 30% responsibility for the community and its drive. This is what we often see in many projects.

When we designed Omikami experiment, our goal was altruistic—to offer fair distribution and ownership from day one. This ethos and vision extend to the RyuJin project.

RyuJin and Omikami Ecosystem

RyuJin ($RYU) is part of Omikami Ecosystem, which embodies the principles of decentralization and community empowerment. It aims to enhance and support Omikami platform, promoting prosperity and harmony through blockchain technology.

Community and Decentralization

RyuJin thrives on the power of collective decentralization. The team and admin are all volunteers who market-buy the tokens just like everyone else. There is no central fund for payments, ensuring a truly decentralized community.

The Philosophy of Ryoshi

I have always maintained that my identity is not important. The efforts to unmask me would be underwhelming. I am just a person of no consequence tapping at a keyboard, and I am replaceable. I am Ryoshi. However, I understand the scope of what I have set in motion. I have given you the gift of self-actualization through the playing field of blockchain.

"When you come to the appointed place at the appointed time and meet some person, introduce yourself as Ryoshi. If they do the same, then you have met a special person."

RyuJin, in harmony with Amaterasu Omikami, the Sun Goddess and the Universe, forms a unified system within Omikami Ecosystem. Together, they bring prosperity, harmony, and innovation through the blockchain.
